Description / Applications

The CLA2602 is the non-magnetic model in the Cryo Linear Actuator (CLA) series and combines this with a large driving force. A CLA can be considered as a piezo driven setscrew with high force output and very good stability, ideal for set and forget applications in a cryo-vacuum environment. Piezo ceramics in the disc-shaped head generate torque pulses which cause the connected screw to rotate in the stationary nut, yielding linear motion at the ball tip. Both screw and nut are ceramic and run without coatings or lubrication.
